They Hit a Grand Slam with the Lindy Hoppers

The Grand Slam Jazz Band, from Vancouver, played for a dance at the Desert Garden on Friday October 19th. The dance was put on by The Lindy in the Loops with The TRUSU Swing Dance Club. Grand Slam played a selection of Dixieland and swing favourites that kept the dance floor full all evening.

They played vintage tunes such as “Rosetta,” “Honeysuckle Rose,” “It Don’t Mean a Thing,” “Take the A Train,” and many more by Glenn Miller, Sidney Bechet, and others.

Before the show the local organizers provide dance lessons and many took part. Grand Slam consists of Kayden Gorden – Trumpet & Vocals, Ben MacRae – Clarinet/Tenor & Vocals, Aaron Lee – Trombone, Alvin Agatep – Guitar, Michael Wagler – Double Bass and Tyler Murray – Drums.

There were plenty of solos by all the talented band members and drummer Tyler Murray nearly blew the roof off the Desert Gardens with one of his.
